Thank you for your genuine interest in the world's first timber and energy-efficient log siding...the H&L Half-Log™

The patented H&L Half-Log is a unique laminated log siding product engineered to provide four times greater R-Values than solid log siding, while using 80% less timber.

If you can find a 10", 12", 14" or 16" diameter solid log siding the same size as ours calculate what the following additional H&L Half-Log features are worth to you...

- Factory pre-finishing requires only one easy field coat application
- With recommended coated deck screw application, siding can be reused
- R-7 to R-10 energy payback means comfortable summers and warm winters
- 75% less weight means no heavy lifting, smaller install crews, and less chance for injuries
- Less long term maintenance and rework due to product stability and consistency
- Striking shadow lines duplicate high-end custom log structures
- No visible fasteners to crack or stain siding material
- EPS core dramatically reduces noise transmission
- No sheathing required in non-seismic zones
- Authentic high-end hand-peeled ambiance
