Scheuring speed sports On Display With USAF At Duluth Air Show

Aurora, Minn. (July 12, 2016) - An estimated two-day crowd of 62,000 people were on hand to witness the Air Force Thunderbirds put on a spectacular show in their only appearance in a four state area this year.

In addition to flying in the show, Thunderbird pilots spent time at the Air Force display area and had the opportunity to learn about one of the Scheuring speed sports SnoCross race snowmobiles that was on display in the Air Force booth, along with a new Ford F150.

Technology is the key to everything nowadays, whether it is in a F16, an F150 or a Ski-Doo race snowmobile. The display allowed hundreds of young men and women to learn about that technology and the opportunities to use technology in the Air Force .

Another highlight of the display area was the Rapid Strike simulator ride where participants go on a 3d action mission starting out in an F22 , through the desert on a motorcycle, and end up flying on a bomb.
