AMSOIL Championship Snocross
Rounds 3 & 4 - Bessemer, Michigan
December 6-7, 2013

Tim Tremblay Records First Podium Of The Season

Bessemer, Mich. (December 9, 2013) Tim Tremblay battled extreme weather conditions and the competition, to get his first podium of the season, finishing third at round four of the AMSOIL Championship Snocross tour at the Black Jack Ski Hill on Michigan's upper peninsula.

After a rough start to the season that saw him get thrown from his Ski-Doo racer on multiple occasions, Tremblay came into the weekend with a renewed focus, posting consistent heat race finishes and nearly getting on the podium on Friday with a fourth in Pro Open. Saturday's run to third in the class final marked a rewarding end to a long week of testing for the entire AMSOIL/U.S. Air Force/Rockstar Energy team. The combined results moved Tremblay four spots up the standings and back into the championship battle.

Robbie Malinoski raced to a ninth place finish on Friday and just missed the top 10 on Saturday coming in 11th.

The series now takes a four week holiday break before resuming action at Canterbury Park in Shakopee, Minnesota on January 3.
