Deadwood Snocross Shootout – Jan. 22-23, 2016

Rounds 7 and 8 of ISOC AMSOIL Championship Snocross (ACS) took place in historic Deadwood, SD at the famed Days of '76 Rodeo Grounds. This annual stop on the tour provides a beautiful backdrop for racing with the Black Hills in plain sight and a vibrant downtown scene just across the street. Despite the unseasonably warm weather, the track had plenty of snow and challenging rhythm to create a great weekend of racing. Attendance has grown each and every year at this event, so much so that Saturday night people were being turned away as there simply wasn't enough room to pack in anymore fans!

Kurt Bauerly (#318 Fly Racing/Ski-doo) was the sole representative for the team on the track in Deadwood this weekend as Shane Sewell is still on the mend from an early season knee injury. Good news is that Shane is on track to be back sooner than later so we wish him the best in his recovery and rehab efforts. That being said, the team took on the task of also helping out fellow Ski-doo riders Colton and Dawson Lugert in Deadwood. Both are rookies in their respective Sport and Sport Lite classes on the full National tour this season and have been building on their experience each and every week. Through sled setups and rider coaching the team was able to help these young riders to their best weekend outings to date, each making both finals in their classes and scoring several top 10 finishes after some hard fought main events on a challenging course.

The Deadwood event again went great for Kurt representing the team in the Pro Plus 30 class. After a few slight adjustments following practice due to the warm weather and high altitude, Kurt and crew got his sled dialed in for the long day of racing. Qualifying went well; going undefeated in both rounds and grabbing the top qualifier honors for the final. Coming into the weekend Kurt was near the top of the National Series points chase; he was able to stretch that out to a 22 point lead over the weekend after also winning the final!

It was a beautiful weekend to be outdoors and there was some great racing and results for the team. Please visit the team website at www.bauerlyracing.com or the teams' facebook page for updates, schedules, and photos from all team events. A thanks goes out to the sponsors and crew that help bring these kind of results!
