Subaru Introduces the New Subaru Forester 2014

As you may be aware, Subaru recently released the all-new 2014 Forester here in the US. What you may not be aware of is how different the redesign really is, unlike previous updates this is so much more than a facelift.

The first goal they put forth (and accomplished) was to make the Forester much more family friendly. With its still generous cargo space, the new Forester manages to give you more rear leg and shoulder room than its predecessor whilst maintaining a similar footprint. You also gain ease of access for the little one (two legged or four) because of the seat positioning and the width of the rear door opening. To continue with the family friendly theme, they now offer a power rear lift gate, let me say that again... they now offer a power lift gate! That means Mom (or Dad) no longer has to put everything down and let go of their child's hand in a parking lot in order to open up their rear lift gate.

Next they set out to make the vehicle more efficient; they achieved this by finally putting the much celebrated CVT into the new Forester. With the CVT mated to Subaru's tried and true 2.5i boxer engine, Subaru has managed to pull 32 Highway MPG out of the Forester, a vast improvement on the previous generations 27 Highway MPG. Better yet, it achieves this without switching to premium fuel as has been done by a lot of competitor vehicles.

Continuation of 2014 Subaru Forester

They then placed their sights on the overall ride quality of the Forester. How do they make it smoother, quieter and more comfortable without compromising the solid feel and sturdiness that has made the Forester a favorite of so many Subaru owners? Well first by taking a page out of their own book and using a suspension much more similar to the Outback, then coupling it with a longer wheel base. These simple changes have made an indescribable difference in the way the Forester drives and in the overall comfort of the vehicle. It still is tight and nimble as ever, maintaining everything that made driving the pervious Forester great, but the comfort and noise level have been vastly improved, something which has been called for by many of our customers.

*Top Safety Pick of 14'
Conducted by IIHS*

Finally they set to work on, what else, safety. As you know Subaru makes some of the safest cars on the planet, and that is throughout the lineup not just on one model or trim level. You can now get the revolutionary accident avoidance system Eyesight® in the Touring level Forester. With the adaptive cruise control, pre collision braking and pre collision throttle management, no Subaru safety system has ever offered drivers a better opportunity not to crash. Subaru also managed to give the new Forester better visibility than the previous generation (hard to believe I know) by moving the A pillar forward and moving the side view mirrors to the door frame. As it was in 2013 Bluetooth® hands free calling remains standard, and audio streaming has become available on most trim levels, eliminating at least a couple distractions while driving.

In short, the new Forester embraces everything that made the old one great, but takes it to the next level. Taking all the best technology from yesterday and successfully combining it with the best we have to offer for today. It is truly everything that has made the Forester, and Subaru for that matter, great coupled with a glimpse of what is going to take us and our loyal customers, past, present and Future, to the next level of comfort, safety and efficiency. I implore you to stop by and let us show what a difference a year makes. Oh and did I mention it comes in a turbo too?

Reynolds' 3rd Annual Pet Adoption

Throughout the last three years, our company has hosted pet adoption days. We invite humane societies all around eastern, CT to our location to try and help innocent animals find a loving and forever home. Many of these animals were abused, thrown away, and or victims of neglect, which is what bring us to the conclusion of helping shelters find a great home for these animals. Humane societies can only do so much to try and help all of these unsheltered animals.

However, it comes with a price; if the shelter becomes overpopulated they have to euthanize. In April we invited Sunshine Golden Retriever Dogs, Colchester Animal Control, Paws NE, Labs4Rescue, Waterford Humane Society, Valley Shore, New Spirit 4 Aussie Rescue, Serving Australian Shepherd and Aussie Mixes, and other privately owned companies to attend. In addition, dog walkers like DTails, BNA Dog Training Services, and Saybrook Sits attended and passed out their business cards so if you were unable to attend please give us a call at 860-434-0028 to get their information. A special congratulation to Olivia K. for winning the 2013 free raffle which was sponsored by PETCO of Clinton. Thank you for all who attended and successfully adopted an animal, you have a big heart.

Thanks to Da Vinci Pizza for donating pizza to the event for all the volunteers!
