Transitioning your ventilator dependent neuromuscular disease patient from an acute care or rehab facility to home can be a time consuming and often overwhelming experience – for the facility, for the patient and for their families. PromptCare Respiratory’s Ventilation for Neuromuscular Disease Program is centered on providing disease-specific ventilator support for patients with ALS, spinal muscle atrophy (SMA), congenital muscular dystrophy (CMD) and spinal cord injuries, and is dedicated to maximizing mobility, improving patient-physician communication, enhancing family support and reuniting families at home.

Our caring and committed liaisons handle all account issues, including managing insurance and documentation verifications and setting up the delivery of high-tech, patient-focused respiratory equipment and other supplies. PromptCare’s expertly trained and certified nurses and licensed respiratory therapists provide valued clinical expertise and overall case guidance 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. They also work to help improve each patient’s quality of life through the use of a speaking valve as tolerated to encourage vocalization.

PromptCare’s Ventilation for Neuromuscular Disease Program focuses on:

- Providing industry-leading technology and customized clinical reports for your most fragile ventilated patients
- Establishing a partnership with a patient’s physician to reduce hospital readmissions
- Evaluating a patient’s home environment for safety
- Improving communication between the patient and their physician
- Providing disease state management and patient ventilator training for their therapy
- Conducting ongoing monthly visits by a PromptCare respiratory therapist to reinforce understanding and ensure therapeutic compliance
