PromptCare Makes Ventilator Patient's Dream of Attending Greater Hartford Open A Reality

CLARK, NEW JERSEY, July 6, 2015 – PromptCare®, the leading regional provider of specialty respiratory products and infusion therapy services, heard the unlikely dream of one of their patients – to attend the Greater Hartford Open. Glenn Landers was an avid golfer prior to devastating spinal cord injury, which now requires him to be connected to a ventilator, portable suction machine and receive oxygen 24 hours a day. But this complex dependency didn't stop Landers from communicating his wish to attend the recent GHO tournament in Cromwell. PromptCare's Connecticut-based service team of Amy Savinelli, RRT-NPS; Melanie Kaye, BS, RRT; Guy Maisto, RCP and John Kopcyk, patient service technician; sprang into action and coordinated with Hospital for Special Care in New Britain, CT, a special outing to the PGA tournament that Landers won't soon forget. Landers and his family and friends were able to watch the Open from one of the courses he used to play.

“At PromptCare, we realize that while many of our patients live in a rehabilitation facility or are mostly confined to home, they still have a lot of living they want to do. We feel it's our role to help them live their best lives,” said PromptCare's President and Chief Executive Officer Tom Voorhees. Voorhees added, “I'm extremely proud of the extra mile our team goes to ensure dreams like Glenn and other patients have can come true. It's part of who we are, enabling patients to live their lives as best they can.”

“My family and I are extremely grateful to everyone at PromptCare for making this special day happen. I'm already looking forward to my next outing,” said Glenn Landers.
